PREFACE

This work was begun by the author as a necessary accessory in the compiling of a genealogy, and from the desire to acquire further knowledge on the three paramount phases of life,--Church, School and Burial places.

This report deals with Burial Places, arranged by political sub-divisions of Adams County Pennsylvania, each division arranged alphabetically and numbered accordingly. The burial places in each division begin with number 1, with such additional burial places of the same unit given a sub letter to the original number. The symbol 1 B 3 would then denote the grave of John Abbott. 1 denoting Allotthetown boro, B the key letter for [illegible] burial sites, 3 the number of burial ground [illegible] division. These numbers are keyed to a map of Adams County showing locations, and used in the cemetery records of the Adams County Historical Society.

Over the years a number of efforts have been made to produce a similar list, but it is believed this work surpasses previous records. However this is not believed complete and the receipt of knowledge of omitted additional burial places, or information not contained herein, will be greatly appreciated. THIS WORK IS NOT INTENDED OR TO BE CONSIDERED AS REPRESENTING THE OFFICIAL OR AN AUTHORITIVE PUBLICATION OF THE ADAMS COUNTY HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

Without the assistance and whole hearted cooperation of Mrs. George Ditzlburn, 137 E. Middle Street and Mr. J. Melcher Sheads, 115 N. Stratton Street of Gettysburg, Pa., chairman of the Genealogical and Neglected Cemeteries Committees respectively, Adams County Historical Society, this work would not have attained the completeness herein.

References to the following printed works was made. History of Cumberland and Adams County 1886, Atlas of Adams County 1872, Department of Interior, Geological Survey 1908-20, U. S. Army Map Service 1944, and list prepared by Historical Society of York County, 1937, and other sources.

Thus by these efforts a memory or record will be preserved, deceiving "The slow ox Time, which brows through the clover fields of poets and great men and names the course o'things, sweeping away old landmarks like worthless rubbish."--Sidney Lanier.

By the grace of God this information is placed at the disposal of the Society and Public, in the belief what it will be found valuable as well as educational, with the hope that additional material will be contributed.
